WOMAN IS SLAIN, MAN DYING

MRS. FLORA DEARTH, 46, KILLED BY BOARDER, WHO THEN SHOOTS HIMSELF

William Wolfe, 37, Clay Miner, Fires Bullet Into Brain of Mulberry Street Restaurant Owner, Killing Her Instantly, and Turns Gun on Himself, Inflicting Probably Fatal Wound.

MURDER AND ATTEMPTED SUICIDE DUE TO QUARREL OVER DISHWASHING

Mrs. Flora Dearth, 46, was dead, while William Wolfe, 37, clay miner, was believed to be dying Saturday at the City hospital, as the result of a double shooting, which occurred in the restaurant conducted by Mrs. Dearth, Mulberry and Locust streets, East End, about 9:30 o'clock Friday evening.

Wolfe, according to the police, shot and killed Mrs. Dearth and then turned a 38-calibre revolver on himself in an attempt to commit suicide, following a quarrel over dishwashing.

Wolfe, a boarder, in the midst of the argument relative to the woman's request that he wash the dishes after the restaurant closed, is said to have fired point blank at his landlady, who was standing behind the counter. The bullet entered her forehead between the eyes, killing her instantly.

Then pressing the barrel of the smoking revolver to his left jaw, he pulled the trigger. The bullet took an upward course, destroying the optical nerve in his right eye and leaving his head above the right temple. Although he was still living at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, no hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Poison Placed In Spring; 80 in 20 Families Ill

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 4.—A wholesale attempt to wipe out a neighborhood through poison placed in a spring, was the theory followed by police and health authorities today as they investigated the illness, within two days, of 80 persons, members of 20 families at Onondaga Valley, a suburb. An analysis was ordered of water from the suspected poison spring.

W. L. Cliff, one of those stricken, said the lock to the spring-house had been broken open. From the symptoms of those ill, physicians believe Croton oil or Jalap was placed in the spring.

The United States, Japan and Great Britain, are expected to follow suit. Chang Tso Lin's new directors of the road have ordered the arrest in R. J. Martin of New York will lecture on the subject, "A Desirable Government," at the Ceramic theatre at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon under auspices of the International Bible Students' association.

He will trace the beginning of government from the beginning to the present day, dwelling upon essentials necessary in the making of a desirable government.

The World war was fought for democracy but "still democracy is not safe," according to Mr. Martin. The rumblings of the Bolsheviks and the Fascists are the menacing signs of the "battle of Armageddon" foretold in the Scriptures, he declares.

By H. K. REYNOLDS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Standing in the shadow of the great state, war and navy building, President Coolidge this afternoon dedicated a magnificent monument in memory of the 5,000 dead of the First American Division in the world war and took occasion to outline his foreign policy with a declaration opposing any alliances or international combinations which would keep the United States from charting its own course in world affairs.

"We do not propose to entrust to any other power or combination of powers any authority to make up our own mind for us," the President declared. "If there is anything which is dear to Americans—which they are bound to preserve at all hazards—it is their independence."

"We recognize that we are a part of the great brotherhood of mankind that there are mutual duties and obligations between nations as there are individuals. America has every wish to discharge these obligations. We wish to recognize these requirements for the promotion of peace, war and destruction are unnatural. Peace and progress are natural. It is in that direction that the people of the earth must move."

SAFE WEIGHING 200 POUNDS IS CARRIED AWAY BY YEGG GANG

Break Into Theatre Box Office Early Saturday.

DOOR JIMMIED

Plunder Includes About $85 in Cash and $20 in Stamps.

Jimmying the lock on the fire-escape door on the west side of the theatre, yeggs Friday night or early Saturday morning, forced their way into the office of the Ceramic theatre, Fourth street, and carried away a 200-pound safe, containing approximately $105 in cash and stamps.

OTHER STRONG MEN ON JOB

CLEVELAND, Oct. 4.—Carrying away the safe of the Producers' Milk company here early today, and then cracking it, robbers obtained close to $1,334.63, according to police. Officials of the company did not know they had been robbed until notified by police who found the ripped safe on the outskirts of the city.

Hide In Theatre.

The robbery was discovered about 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning, when William Bridge, assistant manager, opened the theatre. He notified police headquarters and Chief McDermott and Patrolman Henry Auderhelde made an investigation.

The police believe the yeggs either concealed themselves in the theatre when the last show ended Friday night or by means of a knife or a sharp steel blade forced back the bolt in the side door of the fire exit on the west side of the building. The main door to the office, leading from the lobby, was unlocked, but the bolt on the door between the ticket selling booth and the office was closed. This difficulty was easily overcome, however, as one of the robbers is believed to have climbed through the transom and turned the lock. They left the building through the side door.

Amateurs Suspected.

According to William Tallman, manager of the theatre, the safe contained about $85 in cash and approximately $20 in stamps. Police believe that more than one man was implicated in the job because of the weight of the safe.

Although a search for the safe was made by the police Saturday morning, no trace of it was found. It is believed that it was hauled away in an automobile, which evidently had been parked in the alley back of the theatre.

Police believe the robbery to have been the work of amateurs.

Some brought soap boxes and pillows with them. The less thoughtful bought them from vendors at exorbitant prices. Hot dog and coffee salesmen got fat on their business.

Wolfe Roomed in Dearth Home.

Mrs. Dearth has been conducting a small restaurant in Mulberry street, East End, for about two years. Her husband, Darrell Dearth, operates a second-hand clothing and notion store, opposite the restaurant, Wolfe, whose home is said to be in West Virginia, has been rooming in Mrs. Dearth's home and boarding at her restaurant for about a year.

Wolfe was employed as a clay miner for the American Vitrified Products company, East End, but recently he had been working for Charles Poole, Pennsylvania avenue plumber.

Mrs. Dearth and Wolfe were the only persons in the restaurant at the time of the tragedy.

Neighbors, hearing the gun reports, rushed to the restaurant, but found the doors locked. Patrolman Chester Smith, who was standing at the corner of Mulberry street and Pennsylvania avenue, was summoned.

Breaking the lock of the door, he found the body of Mrs. Dearth lying face downward on the floor behind the counter. Life was extinct. A few feet away, also behind the counter, lay Wolfe with blood streaming from a hole in his head. Beside him was the revolver with two empty chambers.

Police Investigate.

Dr. F. F. Davis pronounced Mrs. Dearth dead. The Miller ambulance was called and Wolfe was taken to the hospital, where he was attended by Dr. C. H. Bailey.

The body of Mrs. Dearth was removed to the Miller undertaking parlors, West Sixth street, and prepared for burial. Coroner Dr. J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, was notified of the shooting Saturday morning and will come here to conduct an inquest.

Marked Progress is Made on Friday and Saturday—Tuesday Will be Another Volunteer Labor Day.

Marked progress was made in the erection of the framework of the W. E. Biederwolf tabernacle, Second and Washington streets on Friday and Saturday when the first section of volunteer workmen contributed their labors.

Ministers and laymen of the various local churches view with each other in performing the multitudinous duties at hand. Sleuthing was begun on the south section and a portion of the roof thereon laid.

"We will have another volunteer labor day on next Tuesday," declared James Heaton, Dr. Biederwolf's representative. Then more rapid work can be done. The preparatory period is always a bit slow because material must be made ready before it can be used. We shall do more of this preliminary work on Monday so that the men contributing their aid the next day can rush without handicap into the part expected of them."

Predict Permanent Tabernacle.

That a permanent tabernacle structure as large as the one now being erected on the city play ground lot will be built one year from now as the result of the forthcoming revival was the prediction of Rev. A. H. O'Brien, of the First Baptist church as he wielded his hammer on the tabernacle lumber on Friday. East Liverpool should have a building of this size always in readiness for union meetings of this kind," he asserted. "Then we could bring in, without all this preparation, men of great ability who could be procured on short notice. Men and women of national and international reputations could then be obtained for this locality with plenty of room for all the populace to hear them. The funds, I happen to know, can be raised for this project."

Women Serve Lunches.

Other ministers and laymen agreed with Rev. Mr. O'Brien's viewpoint and pointed out the merits of such a departure. A centrally located lot, it was disclosed, would be needed for such a building which, it was pointed

TEMPEST LOOMS FOR BASEBALL

Blow-up Expected to Follow World's Series.

By GEORGE BARRY.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Storm clouds, black looking and ominous, hung low today over the citadel of big league baseball.

There were few of the games' leaders in the capital today for the opening game of the world's series, who did not believe that once this series is out of the way, the National pastime is due for a tempest of foundation shaking proportions. It was just such a tempest following the 1919 series that took away from the League heads much of their authority for the conduct of the game, and placed it in the hands of the czar-like figure of Kenesaw Mountain Landis. What this new tempest may bring forth is problematical, but it was the subject of discussion wherever baseball men gathered today, to the exclusion of all other subjects.

Ban Johnson, the peppy head of the American League, who was shorn of much of his authority in 1919, is on the way back again. Using the unenviable O'Connell-Dolan scandal as a club, he has apparently started a renewal of his bitter warfare with Judge Landis. J. W. Davis Pledges U. S. Participation In World Councils

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—With the Democratic President Woodrow Wilson's ideals on world peace, John W. Davis today diverted his presidential drive into the field of foreign affairs.

The Democratic nominee pledged himself to a foreign policy of "active participation in the councils of the world," while bitterly denouncing the Republican "policy of isolation." He will stress this issue, he added, throughout the remainder of the campaign. The decision, endorsed by the Democratic "board of strategy," was due to the recent world peace developments at the league of nations sessions in Geneva.

The Davis program called for immediate American entrance to the world court, official American participation in all international conferences and American attendance at the European disarmament parley, tentatively fixed for June, 1925.

The nominee also endorsed the league of nations but with his party's declaration for a referendum in mind, he contended American adherence should come only "through the common judgment of the people."

Pulitzer Speed Trophy Event Will Close Air Races

WILBUR WRIGHT FIELD, DAYTON, O., Oct. 4.—The Pulitzer high-speed trophy event and an aerial carnival featured by an attack on "New York City" by bombing squadrons, today were to bring to a close the International Air races, described by Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of army air service, as the most successful ever held.

Interest centered in the Pulitzer race, where four ultra-speed ships, piloted by United States army officers, were to attempt to lower the world speed record established by Lieut. A. J. Williams, U. S. N., to do this the flyers today must travel faster than 243.8 miles an hour.

Special attention was attracted to the Pulitzer race, for it promised to be one of the most evenly matched of the entire race program. No flyer stood out as the popular favorite.

Giant Zeppelin Ready to Sail for America Next Week

Copyright, 1924, by I. N. S. FREDRICHSHAFEN, Germany.

Oct. 4.—The last shred of doubt as to the zeppelin ZR3 departing for the United States next week was dispelled by speeches made last night at a dinner party given by the Zeppelin company at the Kurgarten hotel in honor of the visiting American naval officers. Seventeen guests were present, including a correspondent of the International News Service.

This was the first "love feast" of the Germans who constructed the giant of the skies and the Americans and it was put off until both sides were absolutely sure the ZR3 was in condition to begin her four thousand mile voyage.

"The airship is ready at last—ready to depart for the United States," said Dr. Hugo Eckener, who will command the "Queen of the Air" until she lands at Lakehurst.

The statement was greeted with cheers from the Americans who, at last, see a long task ended.

Commander Garland Fulton, speaking in behalf of the United States navy said: "We are leaving for the United States this coming week."

of productivity and progress, under which she will be able to take up the burden of civilization."

The president called attention to the Daves reparations plan, the essence of which was that it should be carried out by private citizens "unhampered by political considerations."

Lauds Daves Plan. "That was done," he said. "The American government was the architect. The experts unconnected with any government built the structure known as the Daves plan. The allies and Germany have adopted it. It remains for private enterprise in this country and Europe to help finance it."

With the operation of the Daves plan, Mr. Coolidge said, he believed there would be a revival in Europe, "and that we shall receive the benefit of a larger market for the products of our farms and our factories."

"Above that," he continued, "We shall have the satisfaction of knowing that we have done what we could to dispel the hatreds of war, restore the destruction it has wrought, and lay a firm foundation for industrial prosperity and a more secure peace. To promote these ends, reserve complete jurisdiction over its own internal affairs and complete independence to direct its own actions, America should always stand ready. I have indicated many times my wish for an international court and further disarmament."

Keep "Opportunity Door" Open. Turning to the campaign issues raised by Senator LaFollette in demanding substantial changes in the constitution and government ownership of railroads and other utilities the president said:

"You want your rights protected by the Constitution and the flag which is its symbol, not only because it represents to you the homeland, but because you know it is the sole source of American freedom. You want your rights protected by the impartial judicial decisions of the courts, where you will have a right to be heard and not be exposed to the irresponsible determination of partisan political action. You want to have your earnings and your property secure. You want a free and fair opportunity to conduct your own business and make your own way in the world without danger of being overcome by government monopoly. When the government goes into business it lays a tax on everybody else in that business, and uses the money that it collects from its competitors to establish a monopoly and drive them out of business. No one can compete. When the government really starts into a line of business it really starts into a line of business to close the door of opportunity to the people. It has always been an American ideal that the door of opportunity should remain open."

Any sensible man or woman can cure constipation

CONSTIPATION is simply a bad habit. You can cure it by exercising a little perseverance and common sense. To get rid of this cause of 75 per cent of human illness and inefficiency, you must help Nature, not force her by using drugs or purgatives which relieve temporarily and end by tightening constipation's grip and leaving you worse off than when you started.

Choose a good mineral oil, like San-Tox AMERICAN MINERAL OIL, and take it regularly. That is the modern method, the lubricating method, now recognized as the best and safest treatment for constipation—safest because the oil acts as a lubricant only and can have no harmful effect upon the system.

San-Tox AMERICAN MINERAL OIL is just a high-grade, refined, tasteless oil, of correct "body" to produce the best results. We recommend it for its exceptional quality and absolute purity.

In the same way we can recommend all of our many San-Tox requisites for toilet, health, and hygiene. Come to our store, the exclusive San-Tox agency, to get acquainted with these fine products.

AFTER AN OPERATION

Rochester, Minnesota. "I had a very serious operation and it seemed as if I could not get my health back after it. I suffered with pain almost constantly. My sister came to help take care of me, and she was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nervousness and a run-down condition. She had me try some of it, and in a very few days' time I began to feel better. In two weeks I hardly knew myself and after taking a couple of bottles more I was up and helping around, and now I am strong and healthy again and am still taking it. It is a pleasure for me to write this to you, and I hope that many other women who are suffering like I was will find out about your medicine. I will give any information I possibly can." — Mrs. JAMES WILKE, 933 E. Center Street, Rochester, Minn.

Buy a Bien Jolie Brassiere Before Fitting Fall Clothes

A brassiere may seem an unimportant item of your wardrobe—to be picked up whenever you see a bargain or chance upon a dainty style.

Yet nothing can do so much toward giving you smart, distinguished lines if well selected and nothing can do more to rob you of modish grace if carelessly chosen.

Over the right brassiere the new styles mould themselves exquisitely to your figure. Over the wrong one they bulge in all places they should not.

It is not enough to see that your brassiere is the right size nor even that it is well made, of good material, carefully stitched and finished. These are important, of course, but correct fit is the one big essential feature and correct fit depends upon buying the right type of brassiere for your individual figure.

Select the style best adapted to your individual proportions and then buy all your brassieres of the same cut, with the essential lines that your figure requires.

We have a complete stock of the ever-popular Bien Jolie Brassieres. We have them for all figures and our expert corsetiere will do everything possible to help you choose the one best suited to your particular needs. Among the most popular models are:

Long line brassieres in brocades, lace and Jersey silk. Sizes 30 to 48. Priced from 60¢ to $5.00.

Bandette brassieres. Jersey silk, fancy lace and brocades. Sizes 30 to 36. Priced at $1.00 and $1.50.

Bien Jolie corselettes in brocades. All sizes. Priced from $3.00 to $10.00.

Sweaters for the Small Girl or Boy

Much care and thought should be given the selection of the tiny tots wardrobe for Fall and Winter for they are much more sensitive to the chill and cold than the older members of the family. And they should be out in the air—no matter how cold it is.

Each child's wardrobe should include a slip-on or coat sweater for wear under their coats—and indoors. We have just received a new shipment of both styles in brown and tan and tan and brown combinations, red, blue and white. With or without collars. Sizes 2 to 5 years. Priced from $2.25 to $5.95.

TEMPEST LOOMS FOR BASEBALL

Blow-up Expected to Follow World's Series.

By GEORGE BARRY.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Storm clouds, black looking and ominous, hung low today over the citadel of big league baseball.

There were few of the games' leaders in the capital today for the opening game of the world's series who did not believe that the first series is due for a tempest of foundation shaking proportions. It was just such a tempest following the 1919 series that took away from the League heads much of their authority for the conduct of the game, and placed it in the hands of the czar-like figure of Kenesaw Mountain Landis. What this new tempest may bring forth is problematical, but it was the subject of discussion wherever baseball men gathered today, to the exclusion of all other subjects.

Ban Johnson, the peppy head of the American League, who was shorn of much of his authority in 1919, is on the war path again. Using the unflattering O'Connell-Dolan scandal as a club, he has apparently started a renewal of his bitter warfare with Judge Landis. It was announced in Chicago yesterday that Johnson would not attend the world series, because in his own words, "the Giants were unfit to take part in it."

Vicious Slap at Landis.
With this vicious slap, Johnson also took occasion to criticize baseball high commissioner for not calling off the series. And he went clear back to 1903 to dig up a club to use on McGraw.

Landis, nor McGraw either, for that matter, are the type of men to take Johnson's stuff supplied.

Judge Landis considers that in banishing O'Connell and Dolan, he acted promptly and fairly and fairly to protect this world's series from any of the stigma that made the 1919 series odorous in the nostrils of the baseball-loving public. He has a great deal of support in this position from some of Johnson's closest friends, to wit, Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington club.

J. W. Davis Pledges U. S. Participation In World Councils

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—With the Democratic President Woodrow Wilson's ideals on world peace, John W. Davis today diverted his presidential drive into the field of foreign affairs.

The Democratic nominee pledged himself to a foreign policy of "active participation in the councils of the world," while bitterly denouncing the Republican "policy of isolation." He will stress this issue, he added, throughout the remainder of the campaign. The decision, endorsed by the Democratic "board of strategy," was due to the recent world peace developments at the league of nations sessions in Geneva.

The Davis program called for immediate American entrance to the world court, official American participation in all international conferences and American attendance at the European disarmament party, tentatively fixed for June, 1925.

The nominee also endorsed the league of nations but with his mind, he contended, American adherence should come only "through the common judgment of the people."

Pulitzer Speed Trophy Event Will Close Air Races

WILBUR WRIGHT FIELD, DAYTON, O., Oct. 4.—The Pulitzer high speed trophy event and an aerial carnival featured by an attack on "New York City" by bombing squadrons, today were to bring to a close the International Air races, described by Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of army air service, as the most successful ever held.

Interest centered in the Pulitzer race, where four ultra-speed ships, piloted by United States army officers, were to attempt to lower the world speed record established by Lieut. A. J. Williams, U. S. N., to do this the flyers today must travel faster than 243.8 miles an hour.

Special attention was attracted to the Pulitzer race, for it promised to be one of the most evenly matched affairs of the entire race program. No flyer stood out as the popular favorite.

Giant Zeppelin Ready to Sail for America Next Week

Copyright, 1924, by I. N. S. FREDRICHSHAFEN, Germany.

Oct. 4.—The last shred of doubt as to the zeppelin ZR3 departing for the United States next week was dispelled by speeches made last night at a dinner party given by the Zeppelin company at the Kurgarten hotel in honor of the visiting American naval officers. Seventeen guests were present, including a correspondent of the International News Service.

This was the first "love feast" of the Germans who constructed the giant of the skies and the Americans and it was put off until both sides were absolutely sure the ZR3 was in condition to begin her four thousand mile voyage.

"The airship is ready at last—ready to depart for the United States," said Dr. Hugo Eckener, who will command the "Queen of the Air" until she lands at Lakehurst.

The statement was greeted with cheers from the Americans who, at last, see a long task ended.

Commander Garland Fulton, speaking in behalf of the United States navy said:

"We are leaving for the United States this coming week."

England's Newest Royal Baby Given Name, Gerald David

LONDON, Oct. 4.—England's newest royal baby, the son of Princess Mary—was christened today at a private ceremony in Goldborough. He was named Gerald David.

The ceremony was surrounded by secrecy and mystery, neither the king nor queen attending, while the Prince of Wales and Duchess of York, its godparents, were represented by proxy. The absence of the royal family occasioned much discussion here. The public also was excluded from the event.

of productivity and progress, under which she will be able to take up the burden of civilization."

The president called attention to the Dawes reparation plan, the essence of which was that it should be carried out by private citizens "unhindered by political consideration."

Lauds Dawes Plan.

"That was done," he said. "The American government was the architect. The experts unconnected with any government built the structure known as the Dawes plan. The allies and Germany have adopted it. It remains for private enterprise in this country and Europe to help finance it."

With the operation of the Dawes plan, Mr. Coolidge said, he believed there would be a revival in Europe, "and that we shall receive the benefit of a larger market for the products of our farms and our factories."

"Above that," he continued, "We shall have the satisfaction of knowing that we have done what we could to dispel the hatreds of war, restore the destruction it has wrought, and lay a firmer foundation for industrial prosperity and a more secure peace."

To promote these ends, reserve complete jurisdiction over its own internal affairs and complete independence to direct its own actions, America should always stand ready. I have indicated many times my wish for an international court and further disarmament.

Keep "Opportunity Door" Open.

Turning to the campaign issues raised by Senator LaFollette in demanding substantial changes in the constitution and government ownership of railroads and other utilities the president said:

"You want your rights protected by the Constitution and the flag which is its symbol, not only because it represents to you the homeland, but because you know it is the sole source of American freedom. You want your rights protected by the impartial judicial decisions of the courts, where you will have a right to be heard and not be exposed to the irresponsible determination of partisan political action. You want to have your earnings and your property secure. You want a free and fair opportunity to conduct your own business and make your own way in the world without danger of being overcome by government monopoly. When the government goes into business it lays a tax on every body else in that business, and uses the money that it collects from its competitors to establish a monopoly and drive them out of business. No one can compete. When the government really starts into a line of business, the door of opportunity is closed to the people. It has always been an American ideal that the door of opportunity should remain open."

Embargo on Texas Shipments.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 4.—An embargo on shipments from Texas to safeguard Ohio from the hoof and mouth disease has been declared by Director of Agriculture Trux. The order becomes effective at once and forbids the shipment of any cattle, sheep or other ruminants, and also provides strict rules to be followed in the shipment of dressed carcasses, hides and wool.

Any sensible man or woman can cure constipation

CONSTIPATION is simply a bad habit. You can cure it by exercising a little perseverance and common sense. To get rid of this cause of 75 per cent of human illness and inefficiency, you must help Nature, not force her by using drugs or purgatives which relieve temporarily and end by tightening constipation's grip and leaving you worse off than when you started.

Choose a good mineral oil, like San-Tox AMERICAN MINERAL OIL, and take it regularly. That is the modern method, the lubricating method, now recognized as the best and safest treatment for constipation—safest because the oil acts as a lubricant only and can have no harmful effect upon the system.

San-Tox AMERICAN MINERAL OIL is just a high-grade, refined, tasteless oil, of correct "body" to produce the best results. We recommend it for its exceptional quality and absolute purity.

In the same way we can recommend all of the many San-Tox requisites for toilet, health, and hygiene. Come to our store, the exclusive San-Tox agency, to get acquainted with these fine products.

OVERLAND CAR
ENDS LONG RUN

Endurance Test Figures Announced by E. L. Bradfield & Son.

Running 3,592 miles in 120 hours, an average of 29.83 miles per hour, the Overland stock touring car, was driven into the E. L. Bradfield & Sons garage, West Sixth street at noon Saturday, completing a 120-hour endurance test.

In the five day run, the machine used 24 quarts or six gallons of oil an average of 149 miles per quart and 149 gallons of gasoline or an average of 24.1 miles per gallon. The engine of the car which was kept in motion continuously during the 120 hour test was running almost as smoothly as the day it left the garage.

Mayor Charles Brown, Chief of Police McDermott and a newspaper representative, who started the car Monday, were on hand when it returned Saturday to inspect the figures regarding mileage traveled, oil and gasoline used. The speedometer was sealed during the trip. Twelve different drivers drove the machine during the test, working in four-hour shifts.

The car, equipped with neither oil, water, or gasoline pump, is the result of 21 years of rigid experimenting in the Willys-Overland factory at Toledo. The test, to which the car was subjected is said to have been the most severe ever applied to a car of this kind.

The machine was driven to the Overland agencies at Lisbon, Salem and Sebring Saturday afternoon.

In 1920 about 53 million citizens were qualified to vote. Only 26,000,000 voted, less than half the eligible number. The other 27,000,000 seemed to think their vote didn't count, whereas if they had voted they might have altered the whole election. Another election day is near at hand and registration days loom ahead.

In no others realm have the labors of the American inventor and the fostering care of the patent office served a better purpose than in the development of the apparatus with which the farmer produces the things that men eat and the raw material from which they make their clothing. Without the farm machinery which the United States has given to the world, mankind would still be a race of slaves.

Washington Wins! It's All Over, Says Big Figure Juggler

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—It's all over the Senators win the series.

Take it from Joseph S. McCoy, secretary of the United States treasury, who for thirty years has been making predictions, juggling figures, and performing prodigious feats of prognostication for the government. McCoy is probably the least known and most quoted man in Washington, as cabinet officers and Congress take his figures as gospel.

Illustrative of his powers, McCoy in 1918, wrote the schedules for the excess profit taxes and predicted a collection of $2,500,000,000. He missed it just $5,000,000.

"Washington will win," he told International News Service today. "Harris' men have more pep and fight than the Giants. McGraw has more experience but its the old 'go get 'em' stuff that will win this series."

J. Moore of Lincoln Way, who is County Vice-President of the W. C. T. U., have returned from attending the County convention of that organization, held in Lisbon this week.

A DESIRABLE GOVERNMENT

millions now living will never die

Each new one of the ever-shifting forms of government promises man happiness, but in time leaves only unfulfilled promises and hopes dashed to pieces.

Can there ever be a universal government that will bring contentment and insure against the ravages of wars, revolutions, anarchy, and consequent suffering? is the question with most people.

Or is man to resign himself to a sort of fatalism in life, accepting unhappiness and sorrow as his portion?

That a desirable government bringing life, liberty, and happiness is in the crucible of present unrest is the prediction of those same prophets of the Bible who so accurately foretold earth's present distress.

Jackie Coogan's New Film, at American, Hailed as Best

What has turned out to be Jackie Coogan's most entertaining picture will be seen at the American theatre Monday. It's title is "Little Robinson Crusoe," written especially for the little star by Willard Mack, who has let his imagination run rampant in working out a plausible and suitable story for Jackie.

The story has to do with Jackie, who plays Mickey Hogan, orphaned son of a San Francisco police hero. He sets out from San Francisco on a tramp steamer bound for Australia to visit his aunt. When they reach the tropics, however, a typhoon wrecks and sinks the ship, taking down all on board with the exception of Mickey and a black cat, who drift away on an improvised raft and strike the shores of a tropical isle.

Then come cannibals, and Satan, in all his demonic glory, after he beholds the doings of little Robinson on the tropical man-eating island, will hide his face in shame. For Jackie starts the ball rolling and keeps everyone busier than a vagrant pup with a pedigreed herd of fleas parking on him.

Imagine, embraced in the setting of one picture—San Francisco's police force, the U. S. Marines, shipwrecks, cannibals, monkeys, black cats, and you may expect most anything—especially when such a mischievous son of Erin as Mickey Hogan is let loose among cannibals.

A National Tribute to Nash

7,800 Cars Oversold
Despite Record-breaking Output

Though Nash production is at the highest level ever attained

—still the demand from every section of the country for these new Advanced Six and Special Six models has swept sales to a point so far beyond the best previous mark that unfilled orders total 7,800 cars.

Nothing that we might say could add the weight of a straw to this irrefutable evidence that men and women everywhere do see clearly in these new cars unparalleled excellence and value.

Happily, with increased output unreasonable delay is eliminated for those who act with promptitude in placing orders.

And deliveries will be made on the rotation basis which is fair to all.

In the meantime—October 5th to 12th is national Nash Oversold Week in honor of the extraordinary success of these new models and we are staging a special exhibition.

PARIS FACING
BIG PROBLEM

African Colonials Cause
Capital Officials Much Trouble.

By Alice Langelier.

PARIS.—France also has its immigration troubles. Paris is being invaded by her colonial subjects from North Africa, who are creating a problem that is not so easy to solve.

More than 50,000 native Babiles are now in the French capital. Many are working in factories, thus taking away bread from the native-born Frenchmen; many others are unemployed, committing crimes, petty and serious ones, for most of these so-called "Sidis" are "easy" with the knife, as the French put it.

The situation is not without grave danger to the population, as a glance at any morning paper will prove. Everyone agrees with Councillor Godin, of the St. Georges Quarter, who says that there is a real "Kabile question" in Paris today. Affairs are not yet organized to resolve this great wave of immigrants from North Africa. The Rue Morand has become a veritable village of Kabile. Here the "Sidis" live in squalid hotels, six or seven in a room as untidy and dirty as the burmouses they wear upon their backs. For this they are willing to pay about fifty cents a day. Most of their spare money goes to the saloon keeper, not because the Kabiles drink much—in fact, it is usually only coffee—but they gamble with dice and cards, and the games are usually followed by a bloody brawl.

When the Kabiles come into contact with European civilization they unfortunately seem to assimilate the vices of the country most readily. Nevertheless, they remain as food workers in France as in their native Morocco or Tunisia. Indeed, they are a bit to hard working for their French comrades, willing to accept small salaries and persisting in their work in case of strikes and cuttings of wages.

The greater number of them are employed in the great refineries on the banks of the Seine, as well as in the automobile factories of Billancourt. As in America, these immigrants insist upon centering in the large cities, although they would be infinitely better off in the country, where field workers are needed. Besides, they belong to an agricultural race and are especially fitted for this outside work.

A project is now at hand to create a special section at the Paris Police Prefecture to deal with African subjects and their problems, to keep them out of trouble, if possible, and help them when they do get into it—and at the same time to keep safe the population which is really in danger.

"Our colonials," says Monsieur Godin in "Le Gaulois," "should feel completely under our protection and know where to find work and healthful pleasure, so they will not be lost in the great city. There should be means at hand to repatriate them in case of sickness or unemployment and a kind of workingmen's bureau established for the benefit of the French employer as well as the natives from across the Mediterranean. It is just as necessary as the great mosque which is now going up to fill their religious needs."

The Result of Specialization
In Refining ONE Crude

AN unbiased oil authority and editor publishes the statement that the best refiners today, the refiners making the highest quality lubricants, are independent refiners in Western Pennsylvania who have had years of experience refining one particular grade of crude—paraffin base crude. He states that they are able to obtain quality and uniformity because they do not take in all kinds and all grades of crudes.

The Freedom Oil Works Company, an independent refinery, was established in 1879. This concern, since its inception, has refined Pennsylvania Grade Crude. Freedom Perfect is the result of forty-five years experience and is the last word in quality and is uniformly perfect.

Freedom Perfect is sold by dealers who recognize the growing demand for this perfect lubricant. It is used by every motorist who wants the most in motor oils made from 100% Pennsylvania Crude.

County Health Chief Urges Precaution Against Smallpox

Within the space of five years, from January, 1919, up to the close of 1923, there were 52 deaths from smallpox. From January 1, last, up to September 1, there were 47 deaths, crying wolf all the time," declared County Health Commissioner Dr. T. T. Church, of Salem. "It is no wonder that this department and also the state department of health is urging all possible precaution against the spread of smallpox, and also why the department is urging that children and even older folks submit to vaccination. It is better to prevent an ailment than to treat it after trouble begins."

"There are 15 cases of smallpox in Youngstown now," Dr. Church pointed out. "In Mahoning county outside of Youngstown there are eight cases. This is the record for any other single community in the state, although Akron has 10 cases. Almost as many deaths have occurred in Ohio from smallpox during the first eight months of this year as occurred in all the five years previous. Now is there any reason why we should not take every preventive measure we can to avoid smallpox?" he queried.

In East Liverpool one case of diphtheria has been reported and five cases of scarlet fever. Two cases of typhoid fever have also been reported. East Palestine has been credited with one case of diphtheria and one case of typhoid.

Salem reported one case of scarlet fever and one of diphtheria, and Wellsville one case of scarlet fever and one case of typhoid.

Diphtheria is showing more of an increase than any other of the communicable diseases.

DIVORCE CASES BEFORE COURT

Seven 'Decrees Handed Down By Judge Moore Friday.

"Hereafter any divorce case remaining on the docket for a year will be dismissed from the record," declared Judge James G. Moore from the bench when inquiry was made how much longer a particular action was to remain unheard. "People who do not have financial means to support their cause should not begin an action. Any divorce case on the docket that is a year old and where nothing has been done will be dismissed; the court concluded."

There was a crowded court when the first divorce action was called for trial, and in one case where about 30 witnesses had been summoned, an agreement was reached between counsel, and the action went before the court uncontested, although listed for contest.

This was the action of Irene Ehlensch, an infant by her next friend against her husband Charles F. Ehlensch.

Attorneys James F. McGarry and W. F. Lones, of Lones, H. J. and Davidson were the counsel in the case. An agreement was reached between counsel before the case was called to trial, and it required but a short time to dispose of the action after the court was advised of the terms of settlement.

The decree of divorce was given to the defendant on the grounds of gross neglect of duty, and the custody of a child was also awarded the defendant, although an order has been made permitting the mother to have the child between the hours of 9 a. m. and 6 o'clock p. m. on Saturdays.

The plaintiff was also awarded all the household furniture, except a dresser, roll top desk and a kitchen stove, and the mortgage there on is to be paid by the plaintiff, Mrs. Ehlensch, also to vacate the premises within 30 days from date, and is to sign a deed clearing property of her interest therein. The petition of the Plaintiff was dismissed, and each party is to pay their individual costs. The defendant, however, is to pay his costs to the court before the decree is granted.

W. Edward Davidson has been granted a divorce from his wife Emma F. Davidson on the grounds of gross neglect of duty. She is also awarded the custody of an adopted child, and Davidson is to pay his wife $3.50 per week for the support of the child.

The case of Bertha Young against Frank Young has been dismissed from the docket at the costs of the plaintiff.

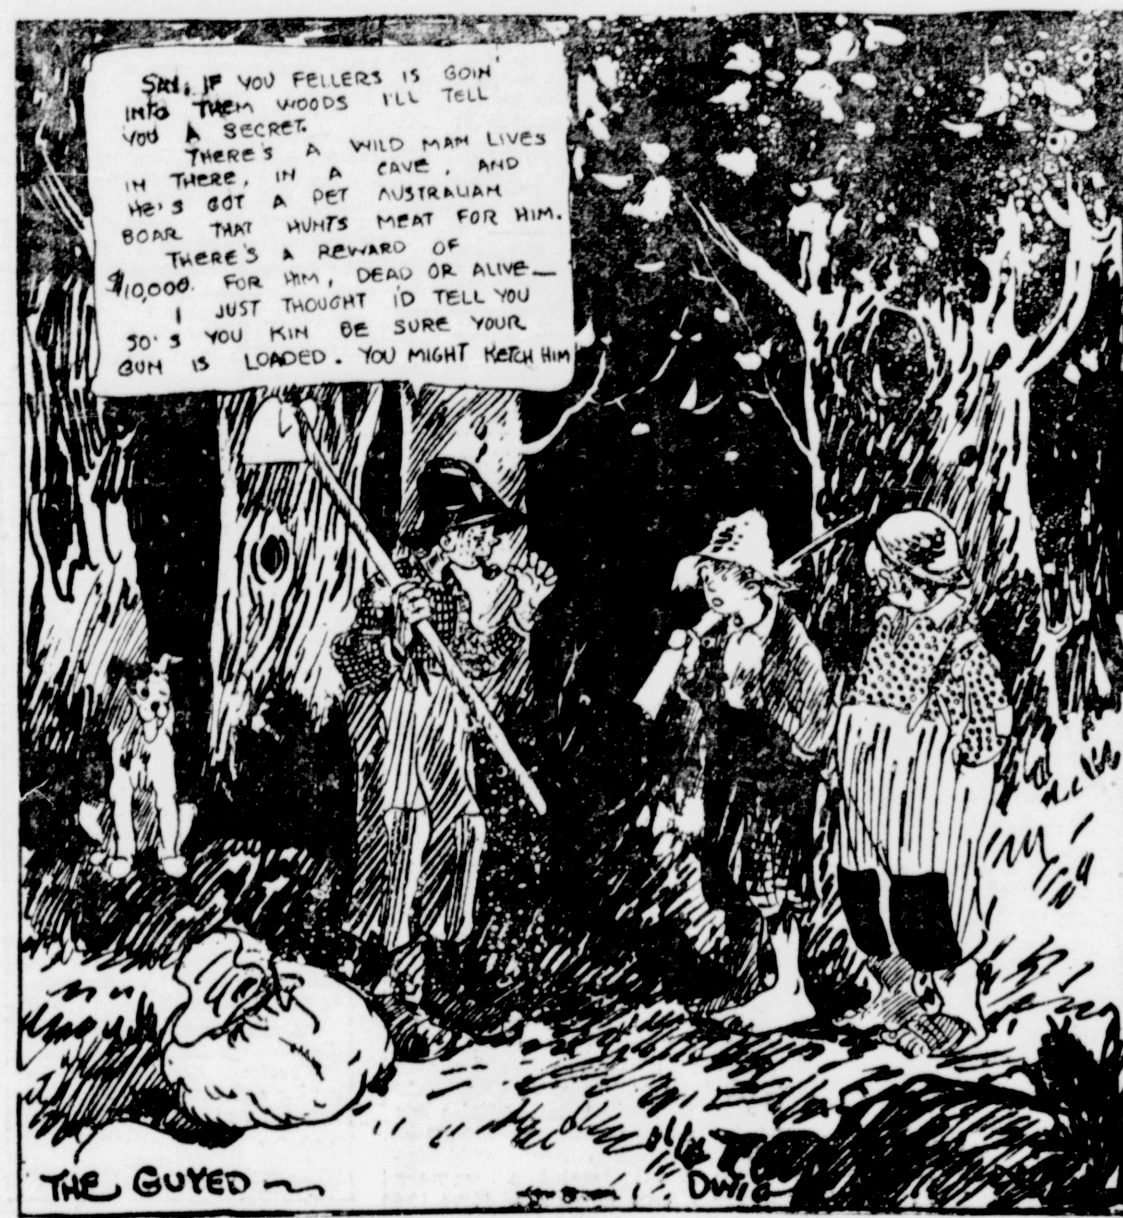

On the grounds of three years willful absence, Bertha B. Neff has been granted a decree of divorce from her husband Warren F. Neff.

Extreme cruelty is the grounds upon which a divorce has been obtained by Clea Hughes, a laborer against Gomer Hughes. The child in this case has been awarded to the plaintiff, and the defendant is to pay her for the support of the little one on terms that have been agreed upon.

Gross neglect of duty was charged in the divorce petition filed by Emma Telford against her husband Harland Telford, and on this plea she was granted a separation. The custody of the child in this action was also awarded the mother.

It was brought on in the trial of the case of Carl Barton against Opal Barton that his wife had been guilty of adultery, and the court granted a divorce to the husband on these

Highway Work Given Impetus

Favorable weather is permitting rapid progress upon new road construction in the county. Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk said Saturday.

Surfacing of the East Liverpool-Wellsville road has been finished by Tatgenhorst & McLaughlin, so far as dropping paving block is concerned. Pavers will go to work on the Canton Hill job west of Lisbon Monday morning. It will require about two weeks to finish this job.

Slow progress is being made on the Paxon job in Middletown township, where the East Liverpool-Youngstown road is being surfaced.

Pouring of concrete on the Lisbon-Leetonia road will be finished within a few days, and this road may be opened to traffic within two weeks thereafter.

On the Shirk road in Hanover township, which is to connect Dungan with the Lincoln highway, the foundation for a top will be completed within a month, judging from the present speed.

The General Asphalt Paving Co. of Canton is making better progress on a section of the East Liverpool-Youngstown road. The state highway department has its own inspector on this job. County Health Chief Urges Precaution Against Smallpox

Within the space of five years, from January, 1919, up to the close of 1923, there were 52 deaths from smallpox. From January 1, last, up to September 1, there were 47 deaths, crying wolf all the time," declared County Health Commissioner Dr. T. T. Church, of Salem. "It is no wonder that this department and also the state department of health is urging all possible precaution against the spread of smallpox, and also why the department is urging that children and even older folks submit to vaccination. It is better to prevent an ailment than to treat it after trouble begins."

"There are 15 cases of smallpox in Youngstown now," Dr. Church pointed out. "In Mahoning county outside of Youngstown there are eight cases. This is the record for any other single community in the state, although Akron has 10 cases. Almost as many deaths have occurred in Ohio from smallpox during the first eight months of this year as occurred in all the five years previous. Now is there any reason why we should not take every preventive measure we can to avoid smallpox?" he queried.

In East Liverpool one case of diphtheria has been reported and five cases of scarlet fever. Two cases of typhoid fever have also been reported. East Palestine has been credited with one case of diphtheria and one case of typhoid.

Salem reported one case of scarlet fever and one of diphtheria, and Wellsboro one case of scarlet fever and one case of typhoid.

Diphtheria is showing more of an increase than any other of the communicable diseases.

DIVORCE CASES BEFORE COURT

Seven 'Decrees Handed Down By Judge Moore Friday.

"Hereafter any divorce case remaining on the docket for a year will be dismissed from the record," declared Judge James G. Moore from the bench when inquiry was made how much longer a particular action was to remain unheard. "People who do not have financial means to support their cause should not begin an action. Any divorce case on the docket that is a year old and where nothing has been done will be dismissed; the court concluded."

There was a crowded court when the first divorce action was called for trial, and in one case where about 30 witnesses had been summoned, an agreement was reached between counsel, and the action went before the court uncontested, although listed for contest.

The action of Irene Ehlenbach, an infant by her next friend against her husband Charles F. Ehlenbach.

Attorneys James F. McGarry and W. F. Lones, of Lones, H. and Davidson were the counsel in the case. An agreement was reached between counsel before the case was called to trial, and it required but a short time to dispose of the action after the court was advised of the terms of settlement.

The decree of divorce was given to the defendant on the grounds of gross neglect of duty, and the custody of a child was also awarded the defendant, although an order has been made permitting the mother to have the child between the hours of 9 a. m. and 6 o'clock p. m. on Saturdays.

The plaintiff was also awarded all the household furniture, except a dresser, roll top desk and a kitchen stove, and the mortgage there on is to be paid by the plaintiff. Mrs. Ehlenbach is also to vacate the premises within 20 days from date, and to sign a deed clearing property of her interest therein. The petition of the Plaintiff was dismissed, and each party is to pay their individual costs. The defendant, however, is to pay his costs to the court before the decree is granted.

W. Edward Davidson has been granted a divorce from his wife Emma F. Davidson on the grounds of gross neglect of duty. She is also awarded the custody of an adopted child, and Davidson is to pay his wife $3.50 per week for the support of the child.

The case of Bertha Young against Frank Young has been dismissed from the docket at the costs of the plaintiff.

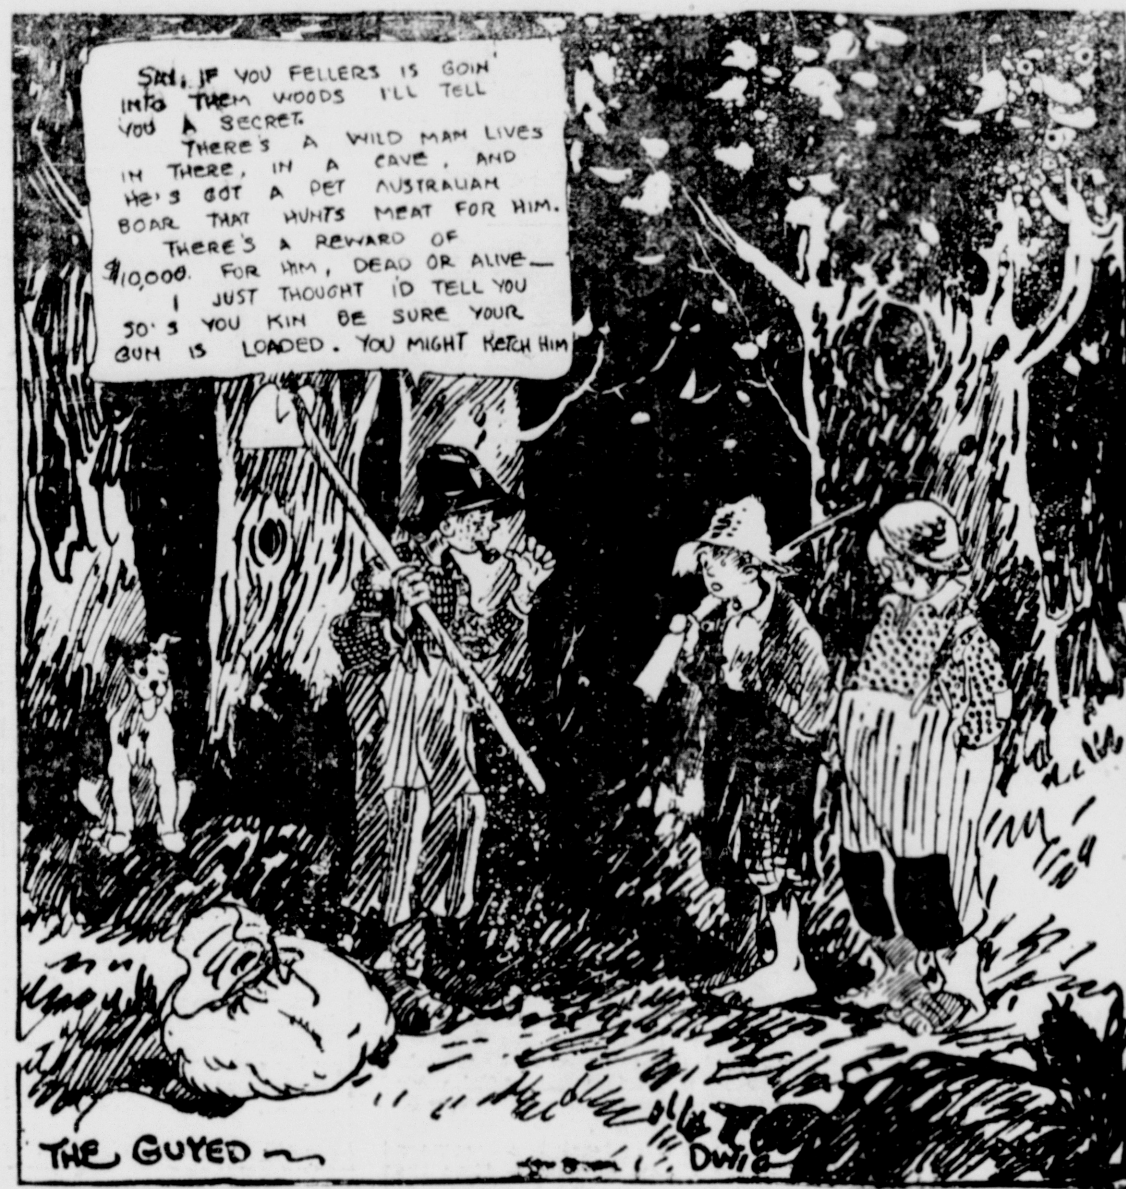

On the grounds of three years willful absence, Bertha B. Neff has been granted a decree of divorce from her husband Warren F. Neff.

Extreme cruelty is the grounds upon which a divorce has been obtained by Clara Hughes, a minor, against Gomer Hughes. The child in this case has been awarded to the plaintiff, and the defendant is to pay her for the support of the little one on terms that have been agreed upon.

Gross neglect of duty was charged in the divorce petition filed by Emma Telford against her husband Harland Telford, and on this plea she was granted a separation. The custody of the child in this action was also awarded the mother.

It was brought out in the trial of the case of Carl Barton against Orla Barton that his wife had been guilty of adultery, and the court granted a divorce to the husband on these grounds. The hearing in this cause was very brief.

Lola Grimes, a minor, who sued her husband Dewey Grimes for a divorce was granted a decree on the grounds of gross neglect of duty. The custody of children was awarded the plaintiff, and Grimes is to pay his wife $15 on the first and 15th days of each month for the support of the children.

SEEKS WORLD FAME AS PERFECT VENUS

Miss Margaret Yohansson wants to enter an international contest for the most perfect "Venus." She was awarded first prize in a national "Venus" contest held in Stockholm.

Rose's Midgets at Strand Here After European Success

Rose's Royal Midgets, who are making their first tour of the United States, after a sensational success in Europe, will appear at the Strand theatre, all next week.

These midgets are the smallest ever gathered together for a road tour. They are 25 in number. Among them is Princess Lucile, who measures—in her stocking feet, a mind you—only 2 feet and 4 inches, and her brother, Prince Calibri, who is 2 inches taller. Both are considered talented artists in Europe, where they have appeared in many of the leading theatres.

It is whispered that while the midgets are small in size, they demand big pay envelopes. Their salaries are bigger than they are.

These little folks seldom stay at a hotel—the beds are too big and the chairs too gigantic. So they live in a special train, where specially equipped rooms are provided for them with such luxuries as a baby grand piano that really lives up to its name.

Feel All Out of Sorts?

ARE you tired all day; weak, nervous—hardly able to keep going? Do you suffer constant backache, sharp, knife-like pains, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder irregularities?

Then look to your kidneys! These hard-working little sponges filter every drop of blood in your body. But weak kidneys cannot properly do their work. They allow poisonous impurities to accumulate in the blood stream and upset the whole system.

Don't let this condition go on! Help your weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Here is East Liverpool Proof:

John Grimm, fireman in pottery works, 1015 Ambrose Ave., says: "A cold settled on my kidneys and sharp pains across my back were torture. I had all I could do to straighten after stooping, and I often had such dizzy spells I couldn't see. My kidneys acted infrequently. Doan's Pills from Holloway's Drug Store cured me of the attack."

Solons Abroad Are Baffled by "Kellogg Look"

LONDON, Oct. 3.—"The Kellogg look" is puzzling European statesmen. Ambassador Kellogg's impassive face seems to baffle, for they can't decide whether it's due to a sphinx-like silence or bewilderment.

"Mr. Gossip," of the Daily Sketch, describing a session of the recent interallied conference, wrote:

"The only amusing incident was the smiling M. M. Herriot attempting to impress a certain point on the impressive Mr. Kellogg."

"But despite five minutes' earnest persuasion no headway was made, and the American ambassador moved away wearing the same inscrutable countenance, which is called down Whitehall way the 'Kellogg look'."

Speed Wagon Plays an Important Part With

Coolidge-Dawes Caravan Touring Continent

Presidential campaigns have advanced a long way in the period spanned by three or four administrations, and now through the use of the automobile, radio, and other developments of scientific and industrial progress, candidates for the highest office of the nation can come closer to their constituents than has ever before been possible.

The Reo which is being used in one of the most unique campaign tours in the history of American politics.

The Coolidge-Dawes Caravan, crossing the continent on the Lincoln highway in a little more than a month, carrying the message of the Republican nominees to voters throughout the country, is an example of this. A fleet of four passenger cars and the Reo Speed Wagon pictured here make up the Caravan which left Plymouth, Vt., birthplace of President Coolidge, on September 9 and which is expected to arrive in San Francisco, October 20.

One of the remarkable things brought to notice by this Caravan is that the automobile industry has evolved a means of transportation such as the Speed Wagon, a car that will assume a capacity load and yet keep pace with passenger cars in the run across the continent. Reports from the Caravan en route state that the Speed Wagon is maintaining the required speed all day long, carrying a full load, and running smoothly as a watch.

'LITTLE JESSIE JAMES' COMING

Novel Musical Comedy
at Ceramic Monday Night.

Theatregoers will have an opportunity to witness L. Lawrence Weber's novel musical comedy "Little Jessie James" at the Ceramic Monday night.

"Little Jessie James" is one of the most popular musical comedies New York has seen in a long time—its metropolitan run lasting over a year with capacity audience at every performance. The book and lyrics are by the talented Harlin Thompson; and Harry Archer is responsible for the brilliant music which will be played here by a Paul Whiteman band. The song hit "I Love You," which has swept the country like wildfire has been translated into thirty-two different languages, and is now being sung in Chinese besides being on Chinese mechanical records. Theatregoers should bear in mind the significance of a Paul Whiteman band with an attraction of the calibre of "Little Jessie James." Composed of the best and most talented musicians selected from hundreds of New York's best soloists there are first and second violin, piano, banjo, base, clarinet, bass saxophone, solo trumpet, solo saxophone, trombone, and cello, and with such enchanting music as the "Little Jessie James" score provides music lovers can look forward to a delightful evening. The keynote of Whiteman band with an attraction of the show is speed and there is not a dull moment in the entertainment of two and one half hours. Mr. Weber has selected a chorus of youth and charm who work with the tireless energy that only deep-rooted ambition can inspire, while the cast is one of the best-balanced and most able aggregations of players assembled in many a season, carefully selected by Mr. Weber for this company.

The plot of "Little Jessie James" is responsible for one innovation—a heroine who comes to New York only to find it a tame place after all—

then, too, it is "Little Jessie James" who saves an errant wife from discovery by her irate husband.

Those desiring seats to witness this play should send in their reservations at once.

Night.

Theatregoers will have an opportunity to witness L. Lawrence Weber's novel musical comedy "Little Jessie James" at the Ceramic Monday night.

"Little Jessie James" is one of the most popular musical comedies New York has seen in a long time—its metropolitan run lasting over a year with capacity audience at every performance. The book and lyrics are by the talented Harlin Thompson; and Harry Archer is responsible for the brilliant music which will be played here by a Paul Whiteman band. The song hit "I Love You," which has swept the country like wildfire has been translated into thirty-two different languages, and is now being sung in Chinese besides being on Chinese mechanical records. Theatregoers should bear in mind the significance of a Paul Whiteman band with an attraction of the calibre of "Little Jessie James." Composed of the best and most talented musicians selected from hundreds of New York's best soloists, there are first and second violin, piano, banjo, bass, clarinet, bass saxophone, solo trumpet, solo saxophone, trombone, and cello, and with such enchanting music as the "Little Jessie James" score provides music lovers can look forward to a delightful evening. The keynote of Whiteman band with an attraction of the show is speed and there is not a dull moment in the entertainment of two and one half hours. Mr. Weber has selected a chorus of youth and charm who work with the tireless energy that only deep-rooted ambition can inspire, while the cast is one of the best-balanced and most able aggregations of players assembled in many a season, carefully selected by Mr. Weber for this company.

The plot of "Little Jessie James" is responsible for one innovation—a heroine who comes to New York only to find it a tame place after all—

then, too, it is "Little Jessie James" who saves an errant wife from discovery by her irate husband.

Those desiring seats to witness this play should send in their reservations at once.

"But you understand now why I wanted to talk to you? If I win out in the thing I have taken on my shoulders, it is going to be by a close margin. I've thought it all out. We can't slip up in a single deal! But, it's up to you to give me a hand. To find out for yourself such things as where did the cholera come from! To see that nothing happens to your horses. To keep your two eyes wide open. To help me find the man, working with us, who turned Shorty loose, who is watching a chance to do his knife act again somewhere else. Do you get me, Bud Lee?"

"I get you," replied Lee.

From without, gay voices, calling merrily, interrupted them. Lee went swiftly to the door while Judith finished her coffee and pulled her broad hat a little lower to throw its shadow in her eyes.

"Aho, there!" It was Pollock Hampton's voice. "We saw your horses and thought we'd catch you picnicking. Got a fire going, too! Say, that's bully. Come ahead, Marcia."

Marcia, a long riding-habit gathered in one hand, her cheeks flushed with her ride, her eyes bright as they rested upon the tall form in the doorway, came on behind Hampton. As the eyes of the two girls met, a sudden hot flush flooded Judith's cheeks. She hated herself for it; she wondered just how red her eyes were.

"Say, Judith," called Hampton, "I'm glad as the dickens we found you. Sawyer, the sheriff, telephoned just now. Said to tell you he'd located Quinnton. The funny part of it is that we made a mistake. It wasn't Quinnton at all that tried to shoot you and Bud up the other night."

"How's that?" demanded Lee. "Who says it wasn't?"

"Sawyer. Found Quinnton at a sheepman's place thirty or forty miles north of here. The sheepman swore Quinnton had been with him two weeks, with him that night."

"A sheepman can lie," grumbled Lee.

Judith's brief moment of confusion passed, she ushered Marcia into the cabin.

"I've been simply dying to see this place!" cried Marcia impetuously. "I told Pollock that it was a sure sign he didn't love me any more if he wouldn't bring me. And you and one of the men," her eyes on Judith's, "actually were in here, being shot at! Judith, dear, you are just the bravest girl in the world. If I'd been here I'd have simply died. I know I would."

Perhaps she would. At any rate she shuddered delightfully. She found a bullet-hole in the door and put a pink forefinger into it, giving a second little shiver.

"And now," she cried, going to a chair near the table, "do tell me all about that terrible, terrible night. But do you think we are quite safe here now, Mr. Lee?"

To herself Judith was saying: "Just the type to be Bud Lee's ideal lady!"

When they left the cabin, an hour later, Judith challenged Hampton to a ride and so left Marcia and Bud Lee to follow leisurely.

CHAPTER IX

Poker Face and a White Pigeon.

Mrs. Simpson had made a discovery. It was epoch-making. It was tremendous. Nothing short of that! So, at the very least, Mrs. Simpson was prepared to maintain stoutly in the face of possible ridicule.

One morning, very early, Mrs. Simpson, from the thick curtains of the living room, saw Jose "prowling around suspicious-like in the courtyard!" She had sensed Jose's dislike, and thrilled at the sight. She always thrilled to Jose. The half-breed had gone silently, "sneaking-like," by Judith's out-door. He had paused there, listening. He had gone back to the courtyard, hesitating, pretending that he was looking at the roses! Such a ruse on the part of so black-hearted a villain inspired in the scarcely breathing Mrs. Simpson a vast disgust. As if he could fool her like that, pottering around among the roses.

She, too, sought to move silently in his wake, though under her ample weight the veranda creaked audibly. Still, making less noise than usual, she peered through the lilacs. She saw Jose at the base of the knoll, going swiftly toward the stables. She saw another man who, evidently, was a third of the "gangs," and who, of course, had risen early to creep one of the men's bunk house before the others were awake, to meet Jose.

Screening herself behind the lilacs, her heart throbbing, as it had not done for many a long year, she watched.

Jose and the other man did not meet. Jose stopped. The two exchanged a few words too low for Mrs. Simpson to hear at that distance. But she made out that the other man had something in his hand, something white. A pigeon. For, suddenly released, it fluttered out of the man's hands and, circling high above Mrs. Simpson's head, flew to join the other birds cooling on the housetop!

"A carrier-pigeon!" gasped Mrs. Simpson. "Taking a message to the other cutthroats!"

From that instant there was no doubt in her mind. This fitted in too well with her many suspicions not to be the clue she sought long and unceasingly.

Jose went on, the man from the bunk house went back to it, and Mrs. Simpson fled to the house and hastened excitedly to Judith's room. Judith, rudely awakened, came hurriedly to her door in her dressing-gown, her eyes lids heavy with sleep. When she heard, she laughed.

"You dear old goose!" cried Judith joyously. "I just love you to death. You put fresh interest into life."

Despite Mrs. Simpson's earnest protests, Judith hugged her and pushed her out again, saying that since she was awake now she would want her breakfast just as soon as she could get it. The housekeeper shook her head and retreated heavily.

SENATORS 6 TO 5 FAVORITES TO WIN SERIES OPENER

Walter Johnson's Smoke Ball On Exhibition For First Time In Big Games

Nats in Better Condition, Physically and Morally, Than New York Club; Recent Scandal May Have Effect on Playing of Giants; McQuillan May be McGraw's Choice.

By Davis J. Walsh.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—They say the streets of Brussels fairly rang with revelry by night on the eve of the battle of Waterloo, that the Hessians sang long and loudly before their defeat at Princeton, and that Cornwallis marched to his surrender at Yorktown, heavy eyed from the aftermath of a hard evening, but staid, old Washington, awake betimes to its first world series today to discover that it remained staid, old Washington in spite of the fact that it was about to stake itself to what promises to be the most unusual set of games that organized baseball has known. Its inspired Senators were to take on the New York Giants in the series inaugural this afternoon with Walter Johnson's smoke ball on view in a world series for the first time since that esteemed gentleman entered the big time seventeen years ago. Yet Washington took the matter with dispassionate calm, wholly unexpected in view of its lengthy wait for a pennant winner.

W. & J. BETHANY IN 18TH GAME

Presidents Expect Hard Fight With Bisons.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 4.—Football eleven of Bethany and Washington and Jefferson colleges will meet for the 18th time here Saturday afternoon and the struggle promises to attract a great crowd because of the intense rivalry which has prevailed between the institutions during the last few years, especially during which time the Bisons have made rapid strides forward in tri-state football.

A record of games won and lost during the long series of gridiron clashes between the athletes of the two schools does not give credit to the Bisons for the stubborn fights they have waged. Because of the spirited resistance they have always given, the Bisons have come to be recognized by the Presidents as a worthy foe.

In the previous 17 meetings between Bethany and W. & J., the West Virginia school annexed but one victory, that being in 1910 when the Bisons were victorious by virtue of a field goal. It was an unexpected event.

History may repeat itself in the struggle here tomorrow afternoon. The only year in which Bethany has won from W. & J., the latter school had in effect the freshman rule for a brief period, it going into effect in 1910. W. & J. discarded the rule at that time because other schools were not inclined to follow suit.

This year the freshman rule is in effect at W. & J. again. It may be a Bison year again.

Fred J. Collins, old Dartmouth star, will referee the contest. R. E. Cadigan of Syracuse will be umpire, and Eugene Dowling of Carnegie Tech will be head linesman. All are well known as capable officials, having officiated in games in the tri-state district for several seasons.

Last Night's Fights

At New York—Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo defeated Jack Delaney of New York, six rounds; Yale Okun of New York defeated Joe Silvan of New York, four rounds; Joey Silvers of New York won on a foul from Joe Glick of New York, seventh round; Anthony Marallo of New Orleans won from Billy Britton, 12 rounds.

Digman Is Batting Hero Of 'Y' Industrial Series

Digman, pitcher, first baseman and right fielder of Laughlin, Newell, was the best swatter of the contesting players in the "Y" industrial baseball league series which came to an end when Hall China copped the final clash and the championship.

Digman, in five games, batted at a .444 clip. He likewise came within an ace of leading in fielding with one error in 36 chances. His mark was .972.

Riser, of Laughlin, also was in the .400 class. He batted exactly at .429 in five games. However, he really was in but two whole games, playing only a portion of the other three.

Simcox, of Halls, had a higher mark than the two Laughlin players with .500, but was in only the first three games. He hit safely in all these and had he maintained this form he would easily have led both clubs.

McMath and Kinsey really led the Hall China nine with .333 each in five games. McMath did not strike out during the series and had four sacrifices, leading other players of both clubs in this respect.

Kinsey did not hit at all during the first two games. But he finished strong. One other Hall player made the charmed circle—Manager Sprague, with .300 exactly. He really was in but three games. He fielded perfectly in all his appearances.

But one Laughlin player, the figures show, batted in the .300 class—W. Mundy, with .316. He fielded .867. Mundy pitched in all but one game which doubtless affected his batting somewhat.

Parsons just missed the .300 mark

JOHNSON TOPS TEAMS' HURLERS

Will be Outstanding Figure of Big Clashes.

By Ford C. Frick.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—"A world series" some expert once remarked, "is 60 per cent pitching, 30 per cent luck, and 10 per cent managerial ability."

Those figures may not be accurate, but a lot of fans who follow the game closely are inclined to 100 per cent agreement.

Which makes a comparison of pitching strength between Senators and Giants an interesting bit of pastime during these hectic days when guesses and prognostications are more important than food, clothing and a place to sleep.

John McGraw has some ten pitchers on his payroll. Bucky Harris has almost as many. But for purposes of this series there are only four men on each club who need to be considered.

Harris will most certainly use Johnson, Mogridge and Zachary. He may take a chance on Marberry or Ogdan.

McGraw, it seems safe to predict, will put his trust in McQuillan, Nehf, Barnes and Bentley. That's two right-handers and two southpaws; and Washington, with Johnson, Marberry, Mogridge and Zachary, have the same 50-50 combination.

In Walter Johnson the Senators have far and away the best individual pitcher on either team. Baseball history has had few Johnsons since the game began—for Johnsons come only once in a generation.

McGraw's best right hander is Hughie McQuillan. McQuillan has everything that goes to make a great pitcher. At times he has shown flashes of rare brilliance. But he has been inconsistent, and for purposes of comparison does not rank with Johnson. Virgil Barnes is almost as good as McQuillan and much better for a series of this sort than the young and inexperienced Marberry. Barnes, too, is a curve ball pitcher, and the Senators have had their troubles with pitchers of his sort all through the season.

On right-handers, then, the two teams are not at any great variance. In Johnson the Senators have the best individual of the lot. But considering Barnes and McQuillan against Johnson and Marberry, the advantage is very scant indeed. If Johnson outclasses Barnes and McQuillan, no less do these two outclass the young and more or less untried Marberry.

The left-handers, too, are about on a par. Nehf, with three world series behind him, is the most experienced of the lot.

Mogridge is, of course, the most experienced and the best of the Senator southpaws. He has had a very good season—and has done much to keep the Senators in the race. But he does not figure to prove as effective as Nehf. Bentley and Zachary are untried quantities as world series performers. Bentley has had a great season, better than Zachary. And he has pitched under fire enough to prove his nerve.

The comparisons could be carried on endlessly. Statistics could be quoted and percentages— but statistics and percentages never hold.

The summation is easy. Both clubs have four dependable pitchers—two right-handers and two southpaws. By virtue of Johnson the Senators get a slight edge on right-handed ability. Nehf and Bentley, on the other hand, figure to rank better than Mogridge and Zachary.

The Cuban Secretary of Agriculture has appointed a representative to investigate implements made in Germany that are designed for use in restoring fertility to exhausted soils.

with .294. He made one hit in the first contest. Then for three succeeding games he went hitless only to run amuck with the bludgeon in the final contest when he had six safe raps, one a triple, in six times up. Parsons also fielded perfectly.

Finley hit .274 and fielded at .875. Buzzard, of Halls, and McConnell of Laughlin, two of the league's leading hitters, fell down in stick work during the series, the former batting .169 and the latter .167.

Robinson, of Halls, had the distinction of being hit three times during the series, by Mundy. Twice this occurred in the final game and both times, Dyer, who ran for Robinson, scored.

Despite the fact that they were defeated in the series Laughlin out-hit outfielder Hall. The West Virginians swatted 18 points more than the Ohioans, .270 to .252 and had six points the better in fielding, .943 to .928.

But eleven extra base hits were made during the contest, including two home runs, by Buzzard of Hall and Finley of Laughlin; three triples, Mundy of Laughlin and Parsons and Kinsey of Hall; and six doubles, Robinson, Dyer and McMath of Hall, and V. Bailey and Digman (2) for Laughlin.

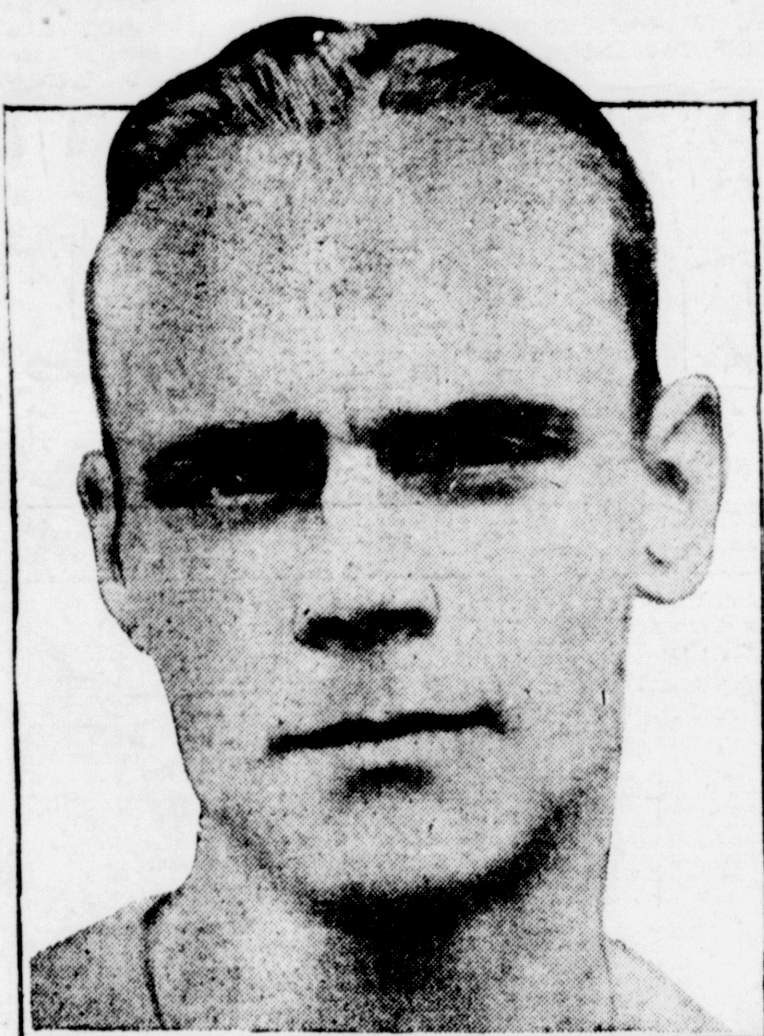

Seven players fielded perfectly—Simcox, McMath, Robinson, Sainor, Sprague, Parsons and Shaw, of Hall, and Brown, Rariden, McConnell, Sayres and Barr of Laughlin.

Sayers accepted 24 chances at second for Laughlin without a slip. Simcox, though in but three games, led in base stealing, with three thefts.

McMath, with four, led in sacrifice hits; Buzzard struck out nine times, with Mundy and V. Bailey following with six times each. Parsons and Sayers walked six times each and Rariden followed with five.

Parsons and Buzzard led in run getting with seven each while Dyer, with eight, made the most individual hits. The error column shows Laughlin with 19 and Hall with 12.

Scribe With 40 Berries To Put On Series Fails To Get Results From Madame Blaa

Dainty 220-pound Fortune Telling Miss—Washington Girl, too—Speaking Excellent Subway English, Finally Asks Questioning Reporter, "Who in H—are Giants?"

By Roland Krebs.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—There is only one person in this ball-mad burg who is not ready to tell you who is going to stick the series away in their pig bank.

It is one whose business it is to give people the low down on what the future holds, at that.

The lady, whom it is expedient to call Madame Blaa, is a fat, brown mama in the fortune tellers' colony in Pennsylvania avenue under the brow of Capitol Hill. All around her are stores who earn coffee and cakes by selling ash trays with capitol emblems on them, postcards, watch fobs, glass paper weights picturing the monument and pennants that advise "Boost Washington."

Madame Blaa has been solving national and international complications for senators, congressmen, statesmen, tourists—anybody who has one buck—for years. To hear it straight from Madame, President Coolidge never takes the cabinet's advice unless she puts her o. k. on it.

Every one of Madame Blaa's 220 pounds came from Romanly. Colorful—she looks like one of Ringling Brothers' animal wagons.

"Who," asked the writer throwing down one berry, and jolting it down on his expense account, "is going to cop the series?"

Madame took the right hand thousands have been proud to shake, studies it closely and turned up a deuce from a poker deck.

"It is doubtful if you will get well," she said in subway English. "You must be careful or you will not live long."

"That's all right about that, madame, but who are you giving the first game to—Senators or Giants?"

"And you must stop your overwork before you have a breakdown." She turned up a jack and shuddered. "You are about to meet a brunette," she said.

"I already did—A week ago Tuesday night. She's grade A. But, about the series—"

"You are about to break off an old friendship," Madame Blaa persisted. "I can't help it, Madame. His stuff is getting poisonous. Now I've got forty mag that aren't working and I want to know if the Senators are the best bet in the first game."

"There short lines in your palm mean you will be moderately rich sometime."

"You wouldn't fool a friend, would you, Madame?"

Then she sprang an original crack: "You are about to take a long journey."

"I want to know—"

"See these cross lines? They mean you are spoiled and selfish and conceited, and—"

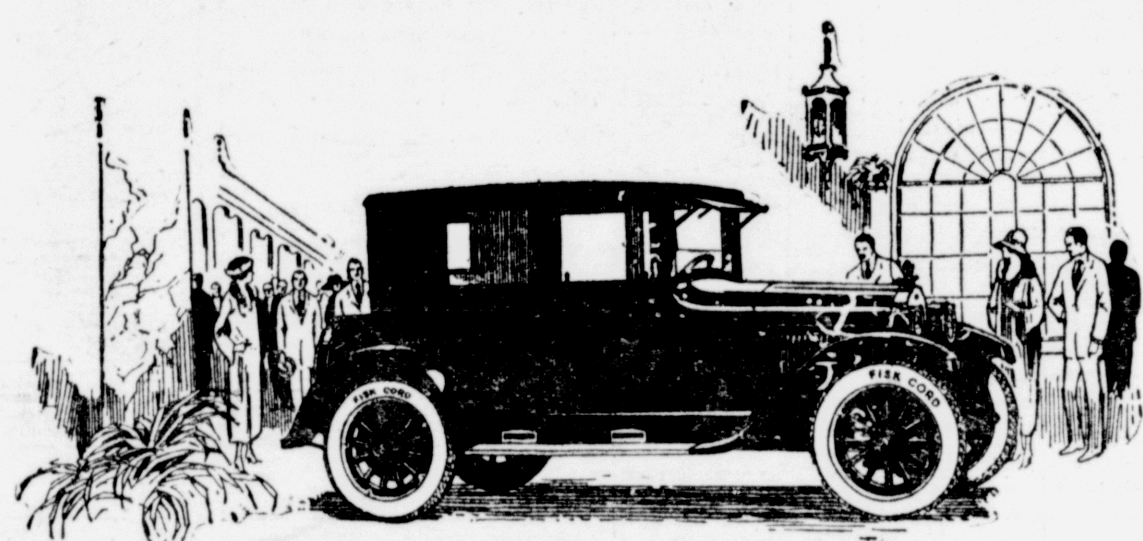

"Say, I didn't come here to be insulted. If you can't tell me if the Giants—"

"Who in hell," asked Madame, forgetting she was a lady, "are the Giants—"

She may be a star spangled cuckoo on the fame and fortune racket, but about baseball Madame Blaa knows as much as a lot of umpires.

And she's a Washington girl, too.

Oklahoma has an asphalt well.

SENATORS 6 TO 5 FAVORITES TO WIN SERIES OPENER

Walter Johnson's Smoke Ball On Exhibition For First Time In Big Games

Nats in Better Condition, Physically and Morally, Than New York Club; Recent Scandal May Have Effect on Playing of Giants; McQuillan May be McGraw's Choice.

By Davis J. Walsh.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—They say the streets of Brussels fairly rang with revelry by night on the eve of the battle of Waterloo, that the Hessians sang long and loudly before their defeat at Princeton, and that Cornwallis marched to his surrender at Yorktown, heavy eyed from the aftermath of a hard evening, but staid, old Washington, awake betimes to its first world series today to discover that it remained staid, old Washington in spite of the fact that it was about to stake itself to what promises to be the most unusual set of games that organized baseball has known. Its inspired Senators were to take on the New York Giants in the series inaugural this afternoon with Walter Johnson's smoke ball on view in a world series for the first time since that esteemed gentleman entered the big time seventeen years ago. Yet Washington took the matter with dispassionate calm, wholly unexpected in view of its lengthy wait for a pennant winner.

W. & J. BETHANY IN 18TH GAME

Presidents Expect Hard Fight With Bisons.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 4.—Football eleven of Bethany and Washington and Jefferson colleges will meet for the 18th time here Saturday afternoon and the struggle promises to attract a great crowd because of the intense rivalry which has prevailed between the institutions during the last few years, especially during which time the Bisons have made rapid strides forward in tri-state football.

A record of games won and lost during the long series of gridiron clashes between the athletes of the two schools does not give credit to the Bisons for the stubborn fights they have waged. Because of the spirited resistance they have always given, the Bisons have come to be recognized by the Presidents as a worthy foe.

In the previous 17 meetings between Bethany and W. & J. the West Virginia school annexed but one victory, that being in 1910 when the Bisons were victorious by virtue of a field goal. It was an unexpected event.

History may repeat itself in the struggle here tomorrow afternoon. The only year in which Bethany has won from W. & J., the latter school had in effect the freshman rule for a brief period, it going into effect in 1910. W. & J. discarded the rule at that time because other schools were not inclined to follow suit.

This year the freshman rule is in effect at W. & J. again. It may be a Bison year again.

Fred J. Collins, old Dartmouth star, will referee the contest. R. E. Cadigan of Syracuse will be umpire, and Eugene Dowling of Carnegie Tech will be head linesman. All are well known as capable officials, having officiated in games in the tri-state district for several seasons.

Last Night's Fights

At New York—Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo defeated Jack Delaney of New York, six rounds; Yale Okun of New York defeated Joe Silvani of New York, four rounds; Joey Silvani of New York won on a foul from Joe Glick of New York, seventh round. Anthony Marallo of New Orleans won from Billy Britton, 12 rounds.

Digman Is Batting Hero Of 'Y' Industrial Series

Digman, pitcher, first baseman and right fielder of Laughlin, Newell, was the best swatter of the contesting players in the "Y" industrial baseball league series which came to an end when Hall China copped the final clash and the championship.

Digman, in five games, batted at a .444 clip. He likewise came within an ace of leading in fielding with one error in 36 chances. His mark was .972.

Riser, of Laughlin, also was in the .439 class. He batted exactly at .429 in five games. However, he really was in but two whole games, playing only a portion of the other three.

Simcox, of Hall, had a higher mark than the two Laughlin players with .500, but was in only the first three games. He hit safely in all three and had he maintained this form he would easily have led both clubs.

McMath and Kinsey really led the Hall China nine with .333 each in five games. McMath did not strike out during the series and had four sacrifices, leading other players of both clubs in this respect.

Kinsey did not hit at all during the first two games. But he finished strong. One other Hall player made the charmed circle—Manager Sprague, with .300 exactly. He really was in but three games. He fielded perfectly in all his appearances.

But one Laughlin player, the figures show, batted in the .300 class—W. Mundy, with .316. He fielded .867. Mundy pitched in all but one game which doubtless affected his batting somewhat.

Parsons just missed the .300 mark

JOHNSON TOPS TEAMS' HURLERS

Will be Outstanding Figure of Big Clashes.

By Ford C. Frick.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—"A world series" some expert once remarked, "is 60 per cent pitching, 30 per cent luck, and 10 per cent managerial ability."

Those figures may not be accurate, but a lot of fans who follow the game closely are inclined to 100 per cent agreement.

Which makes a comparison of pitching strength between Senators and Giants an interesting bit of pastime during these hectic days when guesses and prognostications are more important than food, clothing and a place to sleep.

John McGraw has some ten pitchers on his payroll. Bucky Harris has almost as many. But for purposes of this series there are only four men on each club who need to be considered.

Harris will most certainly use Johnson, Mordridge and Zachary. He may take a chance on Marberry or Ogden. McGraw, it seems safe to predict, will put his trust in McQuillan, Nehf, Barnes and Bentley. That's two right-handers and two southpaws; and Washington, with Johnson, Marberry, Mordridge and Zachary, have the same 50-50 combination.

In Walter Johnson the Senators have far and away the best individual pitcher on either team. Baseball history has had few Johnsons since the game began—for Johnsons come only once in a generation.

McGraw's best right hander is Hughie McQuillan. McQuillan has everything that goes to make a great pitcher. At times he has shown flashes of rare brilliance. But he has been inconsistent, and for purposes of comparison does not rank with Johnson. Virgil Barnes is almost as good as McQuillan and much better for a series of this sort than the young and inexperienced Marberry. Barnes, too, is a curve-ball pitcher, and the Senators have had their troubles with pitchers of his sort all through the season.

On right-handers, then, the two teams are not at any great variance. In Johnson the Senators have the best individual of the lot. But considering Barnes and McQuillan against Johnson and Marberry, the advantage is very scant indeed. If Johnson outclasses Barnes and McQuillan, no less do these two outclass the young and more or less untried Marberry.

The left-handers, too, are about on a par. Nehf, with three world series behind him, is the most experienced of the lot.

Mordridge is, of course, the most experienced and the best of the Senator southpaws. He has had a very good season and has done much to keep the Senators in the race. But he does not figure to prove as effective as Nehf. Bentley and Zachary are untried quantities as world series performers. Bentley has had a great season, better than Zachary. And he has pitched under fire enough to prove his nerve.

The comparisons could be carried on endlessly. Statistics could be quoted and percentages noted, but statistics and percentages never hold. The summarization is easy. Both clubs have four dependable pitchers—two right-handers and two southpaws. By virtue of Johnson the Senators get a slight edge on right-handed ability. Nehf and Bentley, on the other hand, figure to rank better than Mordridge and Zachary.

The Cuban Secretary of Agriculture has appointed a representative to investigate implements made in Germany that are designed for use in restoring fertility to exhausted soils.

with .294. He made one hit in the first contest. Then for three succeeding games he went hitless only to run amuck with the bluejeans in the final contest when he had six safe hits, one a triple, in six times up. Parsons also fielded perfectly.

Finley hit .274 and fielded at .875. Buzzard, of Hall, and McConnell of Laughlin, two of the league's leading hitters, fell down in stick work during the series, the former batting .160 and the latter .167.

Robinson, of Hall, had the distinction of being hit three times during the series, by Mundy. Twice this occurred in the final game and both times, Dyer, who ran for Robinson, scored.

Despite the fact that they were defeated in the series Laughlin out-hit outfielder Hall. The West Virginians swatted 18 points more than the Ohioans, .270 to .252 and had six points the better in fielding, .943 to .928.

But eleven extra base hits were made during the contest, including two home runs, by Buzzard of Hall and Finley of Laughlin; three triples, Mundy of Laughlin and Parsons and Kinsey of Hall; and six doubles, Robinson, Desher and McMath of Hall, and V. Bailey and Digman (2) for Laughlin.

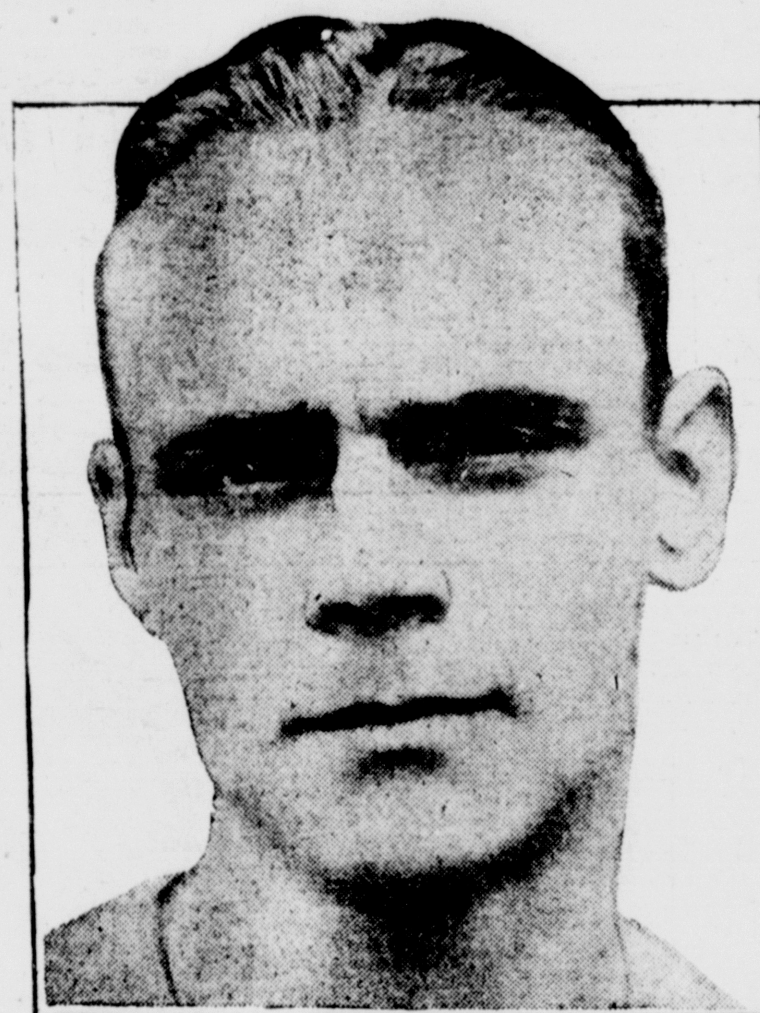

Seven players fielded perfectly—Simcox, McMath, Robinson, Sainor, Sprague, Parsons and Shaw, of Hall, and Brown, Rariden, McConnell, Sayres and Barr of Laughlin.

Sayres accepted 24 chances at second for Laughlin without a slip. Simcox, though in but three games, led in base stealing with three thefts.

McMath, with four, led in sacrifice hits; Buzzard struck out nine times; with Mundy and V. Bailey following with six times each; Parsons and Sayres walked six times each and Rariden followed with five.

Parsons and Buzzard led in run getting with seven each while Digman with eight, made the most individual with eight, made the most individual hits. The error column shows Laughlin with 19 and Hall with 12.

Jimmy O'Connell, young player, and "Cosy" Dolan, veteran coach, both Giants, were declared ineligible for the world's series while Commissioner Landis continues an investigation of the affair.

Scribe With 40 Berries To Put On Series Fails To Get Results From Madame Blaa

Dainty 220-pound Fortune Telling Miss—Washington Girl, too—Speaking Excellent Subway English, Finally Asks Questioning Reporter, "Who in H—are Giants?"

By Roland Krebs.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—There is only one person in this ball-mad burg who is not ready to tell you who is going to stick the series away in their pig bank.

It is one whose business it is to give people the low down on what the future holds, at that.

The lady, whom it is expedient to call Madame Blaa, is a fat, brown mama in the fortune tellers' colony in Pennsylvania avenue under the brow of Capitol Hill. All around her are stores who earn coffee and cakes by selling ash trays with capitol embossed on them, postcards, watch fobs, glass paper weights, picturing the monument and pennants that advise "Boost Washington."

Madame Blaa has been solving national and international complications for senators, congressmen, statesmen, tourists—anybody who has one buck—for years. To hear it straight from madame, President Coolidge never takes the cabinet's advice unless she puts her o. k. on it.

Every one of Madame Blaa's 220 pounds came from Romania. Colorful—she looks like one of Ringling Brothers' animal wagons.

"Who," asked the writer throwing down one berry, and jolting it down on his expense account, "is going to cop the series?"

Madame took the right hand thousands have been proud to shake, studies it closely and turned up a deuce from a poker deck.

"It is doubtful if you will get well," she said in subway English. "You must be careful or you will not live long."

"That's all right about that, madame, but who are you giving the first game to—Senators or Giants?"

"And you must stop your overwork before you have a breakdown." She turned up a jack and shuddered. "You are about to meet a brunette," she said.

"I already did—A week ago Tuesday night. She's grade A. But, about the series—"

"You are about to break off an old friendship," Madame Blaa persisted. "I can't help it, Madame. His stuff is getting poisonous. Now I've got forty meg that aren't working and I want to know if the Senators are the best bet in the first game."

"There short lines in your palm mean you will be moderately rich sometime."

"You wouldn't fool a friend, would you, Madame?"

"Then she sprang an original crack: "You are about to take a long journey."

"I want to know—"

"See these cross lines? They mean you are spoiled and selfish and conceited, and—"

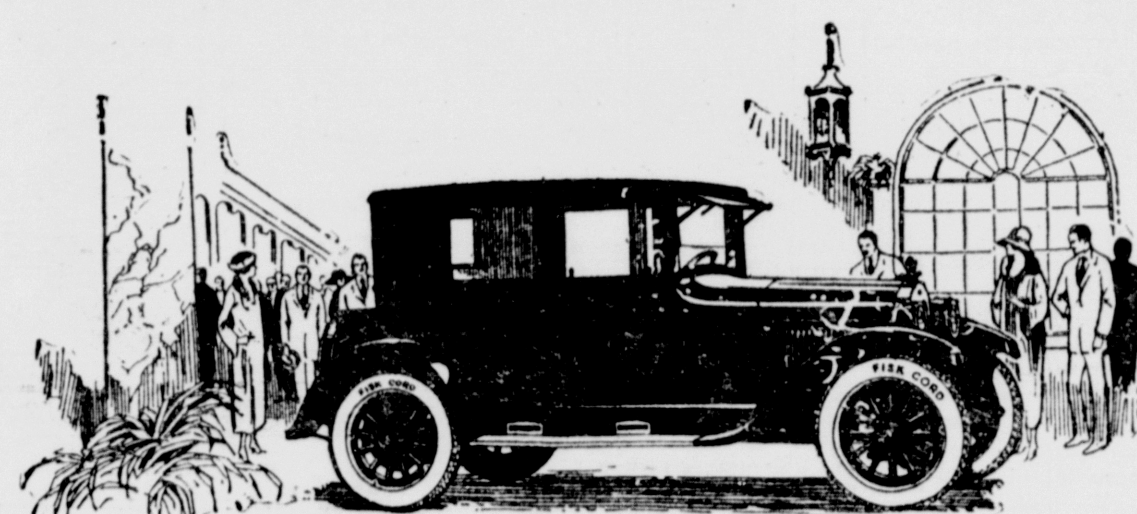

"Say, I didn't come here to be insulted. If you can't tell me if the Giants—"

"Who in hell," asked Madame, forgetting she was a lady, "are the Giants—"

"She may be a star spangled cuckoo on the fame and fortune racket, but about baseball Madame Blaa knows as much as a lot of umpires."

And she's a Washington girl, too.

Oklahoma has an asphalt well.

WALTERS WILL CAPTAIN GREYS

Halfback to Lead Local Team at Salem Sunday.

Stanley Walters, former high school player and a member of the East Liverpool Greys for the past several years, will captain the Cerebral City independent organization when it goes into action for the first time during the present campaign on Sunday afternoon at Salem.

The Greys will tackle the Salem Seafarer Billiards, the eleven that won its first game last Sunday by conquering the Webster Billiards of Wellsville, 6 to 0, on a rain soaked gridiron.

Walters has been playing a half-back position for the Greys during the past two seasons. Unquestionably he has proven himself one of the team's best men, both offensively and on defense.

The final practice tilt in preparation for Sunday's game was held Friday evening. Five new players reported for practice. With these additions the Greys expect to have the strongest outfit of representatives it has had in years. The management, however, is still looking for material and will welcome candidates.

"Y" PLAYERS GET TICKETS

League Banquet Past-boards Being Issued.

First come—first served!

This is the order that will be followed in the distribution of past-boards for the fourth annual banquet of the Y. M. C. A. industrial league which will be held on Thursday evening, October 9, in the "Y" dining room, Will J. Scott, industrial department secretary, announced Saturday.

Reservations will be limited to approximately 95, it was announced, and consequently, somewhat of a rush might be expected for accommodations.

The deadline is next Tuesday. No tickets go out after that. "Today-Saturday," asserts Mr. Scott, "is the day to get them." All that is necessary for the league players to do is to go to the Y. M. C. A., or see Mr. Scott, and each will be presented with a ticket for his efforts. Others will receive admissions in the order of application.

The tickets are being issued by the department with the expectation that each will be used by the person to whom it is given.

HARRIS LOOKS FOR LONG SCRAP

No Doubt, However, in His Mind, as to Winners.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—"I look for the series to go at least six games and possibly the whole seven," declared Stanley Harris, youthful manager of the Senators today. "Of course, one team might be favored with all of the breaks and end it quick. There is no doubt in my mind as to the winner."

"My team is full of fight and while I am not given to making predictions, I will say that if Washington beats us Manager Harris must have a mighty strong combination," said Manager McGraw of the Giants. "This recent scandal has not affected the morale of the players."

GIANT PLAYERS ASK SHOWDOWN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Fairly seething with resentment over printed attacks made upon their integrity, following the Dolan-O'Connell exposure, a combination of New York Giants waited upon Judge Landis last night with the intention of requesting him to force Ban Johnson to retract his statement that all members of the team were involved in the scandal. The committee, headed by Hank Gowdy, failed to get an audience with Landis because the commissioner was absent from his hotel at the time the players arrived.

LIFT PUBLIC MEETING BAN

New Cumberland Acts as Diphtheria Cases are Checked.

As no new cases of diphtheria have developed in New Cumberland since early in the week, the ban of the department of health and Mayor J. S. Stewart prohibiting children under 16 years of age from attending public meetings, has been lifted.

The ban, which covered Sunday school service, movie shows and all other affairs at which children gathered, was in effect about a week.

One hundred and fifty-seven school children were administered the toxin and anti-toxin serum as a preventative against diphtheria by Dr. C. W. Many of the Hancock county public health unit, and Miss Marion Bell, health nurse.

Three injections of the serum are necessary to make the persons immune and the remaining "shots" will be given during the next two weeks.

HIGH GRIDDERS FACE CHESTER

Two regulars will be missing from the lineup of the Newell high school football team when it meets the Chester high school eleven at Rock Springs park, Chester, at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Captain Cecil Smith, a tackle, has been ill during the past week and Coach Kidder has decided not to use him against Chester. Eugene Fisher, who played guard, has been lost to the team for the remainder of the season because of injuries.

Gilmore will take Smith's place. Pugh will play guard and Mills will supplant Pugh at center.

Lawrence Nease, fullback, will captain the team in Smith's absence. The players who will start are: Ends, Deems and Ralston; tackles, Gilmore and Laneve; guards, Ingram and Pugh; center, Mills; quarterback, C. Nease; halves, Drum and Campbell, and full, L. Nease.

A delegation of local rooters will accompany the team to Chester.

Pottery Gridders Clash.

A large crowd is expected to witness the football game to be played at Newell park Saturday afternoon between eleveners representing the Homer Laughlin China company and the Edwin M. Knowles pottery.

The game is being staged as a benefit for William Bessen, former member of Edwin M. Knowles athletic team, who has been confined to his home with rheumatism for some time.

Preparatory Services. Preparatory to communion services were conducted Friday evening in the First Presbyterian church by Rev. E. E. Lashley, church pastor. Communion will be administered at the services Sunday morning.

Lodge Initiates Class. The third degree was conferred on a class of candidates at the weekly meeting of Clark lodge No. 447, I. O. O. F., held Friday evening in the Odd Fellows' hall in the Aaron building. After the business session refreshments were served.

Card of Thanks. We desire to thank the Rev. E. E. Lashley, choir, Newell System Bakery, Newell Social Club, the order of I. O. O. WALTERS WILL CAPTAIN GREYS

Halfback to Lead Local Team at Salem Sunday.

Stanley Walters, former high school player and a member of the East Liverpool Greys for the past several years, will captain the Ceraule City independent organization when it goes into action for the first time during the present campaign on Sunday afternoon at Salem.

The Greys will tackle the Salem Seashore Billiards, the eleven that won its first game last Sunday by conquering the Webster Billiards of Wellsville, 6 to 0, on a rain soaked field.

Walters has been playing a half-back position for the Greys during the past two seasons. Unquestionably he has proven himself one of the team's best men, both offensively and on defense.

The final practice tilt in preparation for Sunday's game was held Friday evening. Five new players reported for practice. With these additions the Greys expect to have the strongest outfit of representatives it has had in years. The management, however, is still looking for material and will welcome candidates.

"Y" PLAYERS GET TICKETS

League Banquet Past-boards Being Issued.

First come—first served!

This is the order that will be followed in the distribution of past-boards for the fourth annual banquet of the Y. M. C. A. industrial league which will be held on Thursday evening, October 9, in the "Y" dining room. Will J. Scott, industrial department secretary, announced Saturday.

Reservations will be limited to approximately 95, it was announced, and consequently, somewhat of a rush might be expected for accommodations.

The deadline is next Tuesday. No tickets go out after that. "Today-Saturday," asserts Mr. Scott, "is the day to get them." All that is necessary for the league players to do is to go to the Y. M. C. A. or see Mr. Scott, and each will be presented with a ticket for his efforts. Others will receive admissions in the order of application.

The tickets are being issued by the department with the expectation that each will be used by the person to whom it is given.

HERE IS LINEUP FOR FIRST CLASH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Probable line up for today's opening world's series game: Washington New York. McNeely, cf. Lindstrom, 3b. Harris, 2b. Frisch, 2b. Rice, rf. Young, rf. Goslin, lf. Kelly, cf. HARRIS LOOKS FOR LONG SCRAP

No Doubt, However, in His Mind, as to Winners.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—"I look for the series to go at least six games and possibly the whole seven," declared Stanley Harris, youthful manager of the Senators today. "Of course, one team might be favored with all of the breaks and end it quick. There is no doubt in my mind as to the winner."

"My team is full of fight and while I am not given to making predictions, I will say that if Washington beats us Manager Harris must have a mighty strong combination," said Manager McGraw of the Giants. "This recent scandal has not affected the morale of the players."

GIANT PLAYERS ASK SHOWDOWN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Fairly seething with resentment over printed attacks made upon their integrity, following the Dolan-O'Connell expose, a combination of New York Giants waited upon Judge Landis last night with the intention of requesting him to force Ban Johnson to retract his statement that all members of the team were involved in the scandal. The committee, headed by Hank Gowdy, failed to get an audience with Landis because the commissioner was absent from his hotel at the time the players arrived.

LIFT PUBLIC MEETING BAN

New Cumberland Acts as Diphtheria Cases are Checked.

As no new cases of diphtheria have developed in New Cumberland since early in the week, the ban of the department of health and Mayor J. S. Stewart prohibiting children under 16 years of age from attending public meetings, has been lifted.

The ban, which covered Sunday school service, movie shows and all other affairs at which children gathered, was in effect about a week. Between eleven and fifteen school children were administered the toxin and anti-toxin serum as a preventive against diphtheria by Dr. C. W. Many of the Hancock county public health unit, and Miss Marion Bell, health nurse.

Three injections of the serum are necessary to make the persons immune and the remaining "shots" will be given during the next two weeks.

HIGH GRIDDERS FACE CHESTER

Two regulars will be missing from the lineup of the Newell high school football team when it meets the Chester high school eleven at Rock Springs park, Chester, at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Captain Cecil Smith, a tackle, has been ill during the past week and Coach Kidder has decided not to use him against Chester. Eugene Fisher, who played guard, has been lost to the team for the remainder of the season because of injuries.

Gilmore will take Smith's place. Pugh will play guard and Mills will supplant Pugh at center.

Lawrence Nease, fullback, will captain the team in Smith's absence. The players who will start are: Ends, Deems and Kaiden; tackles, Gilmore and Laneve; guards, Ingram and Pugh; center, Mills; quarterback, C. Nease; halves, Drum and Campbell, and full, L. Nease.

A delegation of local rooters will accompany the team to Chester.

Pottery Gridders Clash.

A large crowd is expected to witness the football game to be played at Newell park Saturday afternoon between eleven representing the Homer Laughlin China company and the Edwin M. Knowles pottery.

The game is being staged as a benefit for William Bossen, former member of Edwin M. Knowles athletic team, who has been confined to his home with rheumatism for some time.

Preparatory Services. Preparatory to communion services were conducted Friday evening in the First Presbyterian church by Rev. E. Lashley, church pastor. Communion will be administered at the services Sunday morning.

Lodge Initiates Class. The third degree was conferred on a class of candidates at the weekly meeting of Clark lodge No. 447, I. O. O. F., held Friday evening in the Odd Fellows' hall in the Aaron building. After the business session refreshments were served.

CARD OF THANKS. We desire to thank the Rev. E. E. Lashley, choir, Newell System Bakery, Newell Social Club, the order of I. O. O. F., Ku Klux Klan, Homer Laughlin Clay Shop No. 4, Bisque Warehouse and the many friends and neighbors for the beautiful floral offerings and assistance rendered in the bereavement of our beloved son.

MR. AND MRS. H. A. SMITH AND FAMILY.

Two Burns Fined. COSHOCTON. An incendiary is believed responsible for two barn fires near Keene. The barns were full of newly harvested grain. One belonging to Oliver Bretzius, the other to J. D. Levensong. The loss in each case was about $4,000.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Bewildered Step-Mother.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am bewildered and do not know what to do. My youngest step-daughter and my youngest brother have been keeping company for some time and now wish to be married. They are both in their twenties and old enough to get married. They are no blood relation and consequently I myself do not see any harm in it. The trouble is that one of my sisters has turned my mother against this girl and she refuses to recognize her as a daughter-in-law. She has also told me that I was trying to break up her home, my brother being her main support. But I have had nothing whatever to do with it. I have plainly told my brother that mother would think this and have refused to let them board with me as they both wished to work to get money enough to buy a home. My brother is about 30 years old and my mother wants him to stay single until she dies. My brother told her she might live 20 years or more and then he would have nothing. She is getting old and is very sensitive and everything that my brother does against her wishes she says hurts her. I do not doubt this a bit in a way but I do know that she is a very jealous and selfish woman. I love my mother dearly and would do anything for her, but it hurts me the way she treats my step-daughter as she is as pure a girl as you will find anywhere. She is accurate and neat and is willing to be good to those who misuse her. I also feel sorry for my brother as the greatest part and also the best part of his life she has become a grass widow. Could I honorably take up the suit where I left off years ago? What chance do you think I have of winning her? I am dark and tall and considered rather good looking by my friends.

If the girl has her divorce you can honorably court her again. Of course I cannot say how favorable your chances are of winning her, because I haven't the least idea how great her regard is for you.

WELLINGTON.—The G. A. R. and W. R. C. will entertain the state officers of both posts here on October 14. There will be an afternoon and evening session, featured by a banquet. Visitors from Oberlin, La-Grange, Elyria, Norwalk, Amherst and Lorain also are expected to be present.

Guard Game Preserves. GLOUCESTER.—Heavy guard has been established around the well-stocked game preserve which lies in the hills north of here. It was reported that there are more illegal hunters than usual this year, because so many coal miners are idle and their families, in many cases, in want.

F. O. E. Notice. All members are requested to assemble at the lodge rooms at 7 p. m. Sunday evening to attend funeral services of Brother Isaiah Riddle. By order of Worthy President.

She's Divorced Now. Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man in my early twenties and have always loved the same girl. When she married some one else over a year ago I lost all hope. But recently

A STEP-MOTHER.

You are entirely right in feeling that your brother and step-daughter should marry and because you are right I think you ought to do all you can to help the couple to carry out their plans. Your mother certainly is selfish in thinking of her own comfort and happiness before she does that of her son. If she had the right attitude she would want to make herself so lovable and unselfish that she would be welcome with any of her children. It is not right that your brother alone should remain single in order to support your mother. All of the children ought to help toward her support.

She's Divorced Now.

Used Car Bargains HARRIS BUICK CO.

142 West 7th St. Phone 283.

Emergency calls for ice started huge shipments to Atlanta and other cities within quick shipment distance. For a period of ten days a single railroad dispatched thirty car loads of principal Georgia shipping points from Cincinnati and a number of other ice daily to the peach packing district. The emergency has been relieved, reports to the association declare, with prospects of the big crop being moved at a minimum loss due to spoilage.

Weather conditions resulted in the ripening of the crop at an earlier date than had been anticipated by growers and shippers, the report declared, and ice supplies for shipment had been estimated that more than 2,000,000 tons of ice is used each year in the shipment and preservation of the American fruit crop.
